- Directions by Road

Leave the M4 motorway at Junction 13 and follow the A34 dual carriageway south. You will immediately pass a service station on your left. Keep in the left hand two lanes which are signposted A339 Newbury. After a few hundred yards these lanes become a dual carriageway heading south towards Newbury town. Continue on the dual carriageway for about 1 mile. Go straight ahead at the roundabout for the Vodafone HQ. Take the left lane at the next traffic lights and follow the second exit, signposted A4 Thatcham; go straight ahead at two sets of traffic lights which are very close together, straight across at the roundabout by B&Q and then right at the next traffic lights. You are now in Hambridge Road. Hambridge Lane is a left turn at the first mini-roundabout. We are almost at the end of Hambridge Lane on the left. The Rochford Thompson building has a very distinctive green and blue colour scheme. Ignore Cyril Vokins Road – the car park entrance is the turning after the building.

- Directions by Rail

Newbury is on the main line from London, Paddington with a regular service at least once an hour throughout the day. If possible, avoid services which require you to change trains at Reading and pick an Intercity train which normally has two stops and takes about 40 minutes to reach Newbury. Rochford Thompson's office is a five minute taxi ride from the main Newbury Station. The Newbury Racecourse station is not recommended as it has no taxi service and is a 10 – 15 minute walk from RT.
